ABSTRACT

The International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) is a membership Union uniquely composed of both government and civil society organisations (public, private and non-governmental organisations). The IUCN World Conservation Congress (WCC) is the largest marketplace for conservation and sustainable development science, practice and policy. Scientists, policy experts, business leaders and professionals from around the globe share experience, innovation and the latest research. After Hawaii in 2016, the next IUCN WCC will take place in France next year. This Congress will help shape global priorities for the coming decade, beyond conservation and across all of the Sustainable Development Goals. This talk (in French) will give you all information on the 2020 IUCN WCC (agenda, organisation, objectives, why and how to contribute...).
